

FREDDY, PETE AND THE ROTTEN TEETH DENTIST

One day there was a little pirate called Freddy and there was another pirate called Pete. Freddy had long sticky up hair and he looked rather like Fizz on the Tweenies. Pete looked like a duck and he had yellow spots like Jake from the Tweenies. They were on their boat. They went to an island on their boat. The island was in Scalloway. It had loads of trees and beautiful flowers. They picked them. The trees were very heavy to carry in their boat. They saw some hidden treasure buried in the sand, with a rock on top of it and two arrows stuck on top. They took it. They took it home and then they went to the shops and they bought some sweeties and ate it for their lunch and their tea and more for their pudding. Then they went off and got some more and ate it. Yum, yum, yum! They enjoyed their lunch, tea and pudding. Then they went to the dentist and they had rotten teeth. Then a little boy came into the dentist. He didn't have rotten teeth because he had a little sandwich and a little choccie and some fish for his tea. The pirates got cooked in the pot and the dentist ate them for tea and got rotten teeth. Ha, ha, ha!
