

Besides the two plaques dedicated to former ministers, there are also two plaques situated on the left pillar of the church in commemoration of men from St Ringan's and St Olaf's United Free Churches who lost their lives in WWI. The first (right) reads; 'Roll of Honour / Erected / as a token of lasting gratitude / to the men from this church / who died for King and Country / 1914 – 1919 / (list of names follow) / well done thou good and faithful servant enter / thou into the joy of thy Lord'. The second (above left) reads; 'Dedicated to the Glory of God / and in loving remembrance of the men of / St Olaf's Church / who gave their lives in the Great War 1914 –1918 / (list of names follow) / 'Greater love hath no man than this'. A roll of Honour for the men from St Ringan's who died in WWI in framed paper form (left) is also held by the Shetland Museum. It reads: 'For King and Country / Roll of Honour / St Ringan's / United Free Church / (list of names follow) / God Save

Roll of Honour for men of St Ringan's lost in WWI

The King'. The Roll of Honour and the certificate (below) were also among the items donated when the congregation was dissolved. Just as the church placed much emphasis on service to one's King and country, great store was also placed on the instruction and encouragement of youngsters in the congregation. In 1913 with WWI just around the corner, a young Margaret Smith received a First Class certificate in the Sabbath School examination.
